KEF KHT3005SE-W NOW AVAILABLE

Multi-Award Winning Satellite System Offers Wireless Option

KEF has announced the introduction of its KHT3005SE-W home-cinema system. With exactly the same satellites and centre as the multi award winning KHT3005SE - Uni-Q® driver array, 'tangerine' waveguide and curved aluminium enclosures, the KHT3005SE-W is available with a 250-watt HTB2SE-W wireless subwoofer.

The remarkable 5.1 surround sound audio experience emanates from KEF's iconic "egg" shaped die-cast HTS3001SE satellite and HTC3001SE centre speakers. Utilizing KEF's 115mm (4.5in.) Uni-Q® point source driver array with ingenious "Tangerine Waveguide", they deliver ultra-wide dispersion, and a 3D soundscape that will be enjoyed with equal pleasure by everyone in the room.

The foundation of the KHT3005SE-W system is the new HTB2SE-W wireless subwoofer. A remarkable combination of signal transmission, reception, and processing technologies combine in the next generation of KEF's wireless system to ensure superb signal reliability and a CD-quality sound transmission.

The HTB2SE subwoofer's ultra-reliable, high efficiency, 250W Class-D amplifier powers a 250mm (10in.) driver which, together with a matching ABR auxiliary bass radiator produces amazingly deep, solid and tuneful bass. Whether you prefer to position it vertically or horizontally, the story's the same: an acoustically inert, extremely stylish enclosure shaped to eliminate internal standing waves. Extremely fast response and SmartBass™ 'connect and go' versatility combined with easy to use bass boost and phase controls to make the most of the sub's position in the room.

The KHT3005SE-W is truly a home theatre system worthy of the most demanding home cinema and music system with the convenience of a subwoofer that you can locate virtually anywhere you want in the room while still receiving outstanding bass with exceptional clarity and a remarkable lack of extraneous interference.

The KHT3005SE-W is available now in gloss black finish.
The recommended retail price is £1299.00 complete.
