

OmniMount Systems OMF

Three easy steps to the strongest, most discreet and cost-effective way to hang your LED or LCD flat screen TV

OmniMount, the global leader A/V mounting and furniture solutions, has unveiled a revolutionary, patented flat screen mount that's unlike anything else on the market.

The omnimount (OMF) is the easiest, strongest, most discreet way to hang a flat screen TV. Unlike any mounting solution, anyone can mount a medium-sized flat panel TV in three easy steps with the OMF. Simply attach the panel spacers to the back of the TV using a screwdriver, mount the tiny wall brackets with the template provided and hang the flat panel in its place. The OMF accommodates any flat panel, 13 to 42 inches and up to 18kg into absolutely any wall, perfect for do-it-yourselfers who want to hang a flat panel TV with total ease and confidence. The product supports flat panel TVs up to 36kg if mounted into masonry or a wooden stud. The best part is the price: £39.99.

The OMF includes everything you need for a foolproof installation right out of the box. The four separate wall brackets work with any and all hole patterns on flat panel TVs, providing the highest level of compatibility; and two comprehensive installation templates are provided to ensure simple and accurate mounting every time. Most notably, once mounted the product virtually disappears behind the flat panel, therefore making it ideal for today's increasingly slimmer flat panel TVs.

Pound for pound, the OMF is the strongest mount on the market today. OmniMount's team of industrial engineers achieved the most efficient product design that achieves maximum support using minimal materials. Furthering the company's ongoing initiative to conserve nature's resources, the OMF is another example of the company's initiatives to minimize steel parts, offers recyclable plastic and reduced packaging.
