

METALLICA GUITARIST FLAGSHIP AMP GOES UP TO TEN (THAT'S MORE THAN ENOUGH...)

Metallica hit the UK this month, as does the lead guitarist's flagship £10,000 Randall guitar amp – put your hands together for the Kirk Hammett Signature Series RM100KH Limited Stack

The world's biggest rock show is in town. Metallica – sellers of many million of albums and slayers of countless rival bands – tour the UK this March, and accompanying the group's touchdown is the arrival of the lead guitarist's flagship Randall guitar amplifier.

Kirk Hammett is a time-served member of Metallica and he now tops-off his endorsed a range of Randall guitar amps with a flagship limited edition 'monster'. Taking guitar amps to another level, the highly collectable RM100KH Limited Stack celebrates Kirk's debut Randall range. Built using all-solid tiger maple construction and AAAA flame top, this 100 watt power house is the ultimate addition to any guitarist's set-up. Known for using multiple amps to create his signature sound, Kirk developed the RM100KH Limited Stack with Randall to encompass his signature clean, rhythm, and hi-gain lead tones. The stunning finish includes chrome hardware and as Kirk himself says, 'It's a great look.'

For those who can't quite stump-up the necessary greens, Kirk has also designed the Randall KH15 practice amp. At £59 this combo offers outstanding value, as well as bringing the main man's classic valve-based sound to bedrooms and garages up and down the country. The 15 watt combo features an all-tube preamp, plus there's a 3-band EQ, and a headphone jack. There is even a CD/tape input, letting you thrash along to your favourite tunes. The unit pumps sounds music through a 6.5in Randall Jaguar driver, and Kirk's signature runs across the hard-wearing case.

The Kirk Hammett Signature Series is exclusively distributed in the UK by Sound Technology:

- The RM100KH Limited Stack retails at £9499 RRP inc. VAT.
- The KH15 retails at £89 RRP inc. VAT.
