

MOVE OVER JIMI AND LET ROVER TAKE OVER

Washburn's Rover is the ultimate travel guitar: small enough fit into an airline overhead locker, it also comes with a 'backpack-ready' carry case

When the sun dies down – along with the batteries on your portable iPod dock – Washburn's RO10 'Rover' offers the perfect way to keep the summer party going. Sized to perfectly fit airline overhead storage, the Rover also happily slots into other snug travelling spaces – think car rear parcel shelves; camper van cupboards; and coach and train lockers.

For those on the hoof, the Rover's included high-quality cordura, moulded, foam-lined case includes backpack and luggage straps. The smart carry case also adds internal and external pockets – so there is always somewhere to blatantly display your White Stripes songbook, while at the same time, furtively hiding your well-thumbed Take That play-along volumes.

Of course, being a member of the illustrious Washburn Guitars clan, the Rover is not only a textbook travel guitar; it is also a first-rate musical instrument. The full-size 24in acoustic features a solid-spruce top, together with a mahogany body and neck. The rosewood fingerboard is a joy to be(held), while high-quality geared tuners result in an adorable sound.

For those still in the embryonic stages of the 'Joy of Guitar', Washburn also packs an instructional CD-ROM. Add a shoulder strap and three picks, and you are all set to make sweet music – wherever in the world you may be.

The Washburn RO10 Rover is available now, priced £129.
