

OmniMount Systems to sell direct in the UK

America's biggest screen mount and furniture manufacturer aims to get bigger over here

OmniMount Systems, the global leader in consumer and commercial A/V mounting and furniture solutions, will start selling its award-winning range of flat screen mounts and furniture directly to the industry in the UK with immediate effect.

OmniMount is readying some outstanding new designs that it plans to sell through its Northamptonshire-based UK headquarters, with the emphasis particularly being on independent retailers.

"We've got the best ever line up of product in our portfolio in terms of breadth, quality and potential," declared Neil Curry, managing director OmniMount Systems EMEA. "We felt it was time for us to be responsible for designs. We've worked with a number of good partners but we've always wanted to be in charge of our own destiny."

Whether it is for the professional market, with products such as DCM UA tilting double ceiling flat screen mount, or for consumers, with designs such as multi award-winning Ultra Low Profile flat screen wall mounts, OmniMount's huge portfolio has something for everyone.
